

This Learning Guide is designed for use by Professional Learning Communities, learning coaches and teacher leaders or as a self-paced study to explore how critical thinking can support student success.

Critical Thinking

with
Garfield Gini-Newman

This learning guide is intended to be used after viewing the video clip:
Fostering Entrepreneurial Thinking with Garfield Gini-Newman

Lesson synopsis

In this short video clip, Garfield Gini-Newman discusses what learning looks like for a student with an entrepreneurial spirit.

Key understandings:

- Children with an entrepreneurial spirit find that learning happens all the time and is not confined within school walls.
- We can seize opportunities to learn anytime and in any place.
- A single question can lead us in multiple directions.

Questions for discussion:

- To what extent does this clip challenge or affirm your understanding of entrepreneurial spirit with your students?
- How do you nourish an entrepreneurial spirit with your students?
- How can we balance the nurturing of an entrepreneurial spirit with other curriculum requirements?

For more information:

Cross-Curricular Competencies

- Innovate, create, generate and apply new ideas or concepts
- Apply multiple literacies
- Identify and solve complex problems
- Think critically
- Manage information
- Create opportunities through play, imagination, reflection, negotiation and competition, with an entrepreneurial spirit

[The Critical Thinking Consortium
Engaging All Learners - Support for Implementation](#)

Acknowledgement:

This guide was developed through a collaboration between Edmonton Regional Learning Consortium and The Critical Thinking Consortium (TC²). It is freely provided in support of improved teaching and learning under the following Creative Commons license.

